MEPCO Offers Expanded Line of Inverted Bucket Traps

For Immediate Release – June 15, 2010

Grand Rapids, MI – MEPCO announces the launch of an expanded and complete line of Inverted Bucket traps (IB). The new Inverted Bucket traps have the same construction, design, and performance features as our previous line of IB traps but offers much greater sizing and capacity options. MEPCO will still support the previous line of Inverted Buckets for parts and related and has a limited quantity in stock.

You will find a new cut sheet for the expanded Inverted Bucket Traps on our website. We are excited about the new line where you can now match up directly with Armstrong Inverted Buckets Traps. You can place your orders immediately. As always, if you have any questions, please contact customer service.
